

Kayak Enthusiasts Don't Despair!

There is another kayaking option in Dayton!

Randy Wheeler and his wife, Margit, both grew up in Oregon, Randy in Newberg, Margit in Portland. They met at George Fox College (now George Fox University). Randy is a self-employed Certified Management Accountant who provides CFO services to small and medium sized businesses on an as-needed basis through his company West Coast CFO (WestCoastCFO.com). Their house is right at the top of the Dayton Landing Boat Ramp over-looking the peaceful, lush, lazy Yamhill River.

Take in the beauty and solitude of the Yamhill River

After many evenings sitting on his deck looking out over the boat ramp, Randy realized that the property would be the perfect location for a kayak rental business. He decided to go for it in 2016. He bought kayaks, stand up paddle boards, and insurance and opened for business in June.

Good thing, too, for all the kayakers looking for a new place to launch now that the Dundee Paddle Launch has been closed. Kayak enthusiasts in Yamhill County still have a local option to go kayaking at Dayton Kayak Rentals (www.facebook.com/DaytonKayakRentals), which is open on the weekends during the summer and is also available during the week by reservation.

The Yamhill River offers virtually no current and is the perfect place for beginners, with rich green scenery and a multitude of wildlife.
