Partners Supporting Community

‘Local news organization are the glue that binds communities, reminding us every day of our collective identity, the stake we have in one another, and the lessons of history.’ (Ron Heifetz, Harvard University).

SavingCommunity Journalism.com cites 3 Hallmarks of a strong news organization:

1) Set the agenda for public debate.
2) Encourage economic growth in the area.
3) Foster geographic identity.

No. 1: While Internet overloads and blurs the lines of necessary and unnecessary information, the News-Register presents important local issues in a central, thoughtful presentation, tried and trusted for generations. Pause, briefly, to appreciate the tactility of newsprint on your fingertips, and the even flow of print information.

No. 2: This section is about local people supporting one another to encourage a thriving and self-sustaining economy for Yamhill County. Featured businesses and organizations are part of the K-11’s Community Partners program - an outgrowth of our decades old ‘Shop Local / Shop Local Advantage’ promotion.

Community Partners is a holistic promotion of what it means to spend locally, to support the places we call home. And it’s a program with a long history: one of our decades-old “Shop Local / Shop Local Advantage” promotions.

No. 3: Read this section, each issue of the News-Register, and many more special sections that celebrate why Yamhill County is so revered as a place to live, work and grow.

Here are ways you can help Community Partners reaffirm the important and historical mission of community journalism and maintain a stronger sense of place.

1) Subscribe to the News-Register. Two papers a week and online content for the price of a cup of coffee!
2) Support businesses that advertise in the News-Register and its myriad special sections. Tell them you saw their ad. Thank them for supporting community journalism.
3) Donate: You can make tax-deductible donations to the News Register Fund through the Oregon Public Information Partnership (www.oregonpublicinfo.org)
4) Buy ads: Classifieds, Milestones. ‘Happy’ ads. Advertising is not just for businesses
5) Stock up specialty publications for distribution to local residents and visitors
6) Visit newsregister.com regularly, and follow us on Facebook and Twitter.
7) Use our print and digital communication services to reach a large local audience base. (See Anatomy of a Newspaper on page 21 and 22.)
8) Share your ideas for stories about individuals who give back to the community. (Email ideas to news@newsregister.com.)

FIND OUT HOW TO SHARE YOUR IDEAS WITH THE COMMUNITY:
• Exchange ideas with local organizations.
• Share your ideas for stories about individuals who give back to the community.
• Use our print and digital communication services to reach a large local audience base.
• Visit newsregister.com regularly, and follow us on Facebook and Twitter.
• Buy ads: Classifieds, Milestones, ‘Happy’ ads. Advertising is not just for businesses
• Stock up specialty publications for distribution to local residents and visitors

In this Together: a relying column when the COVID-19 pandemic emerged. But the News Register community, from our thousands of readers to the handful of businesses whose marketing strategies include our print and digital products, know that we were in This Together long before any health crisis changed life as we know it, and we’ll be in This Together long after the effects of the pandemic have settled.

Here are ways you can help Community Partners reaffirm the important and historical mission of community journalism and maintain a stronger sense of place.

1. Share your ideas for stories about individuals who give back to the community.
2. Encourage economic growth in the area.
3. Foster geographic identity.

-To do:
• Share your ideas for stories about individuals who give back to the community.
• Use our print and digital communication services to reach a large local audience base. (See Anatomy of a Newspaper on page 21 and 22.)
• Share your ideas for stories about individuals who give back to the community. (Email ideas to news@newsregister.com.)

Sincerely,
Every day, we strive to put quality audio in your vehicle, to keep up on the latest automotive technology to provide the best service possible, regardless of when or how the vehicle was made.

OBLIVIANCE

The space dedicated to remembering loved ones is one of the most read sections of the paper. Submitted by family and friends, the life stories published in each issue highlight the amazing individuals who have recently passed, while offering condolence and letting the community know how best to remember and honor their neighbors.

EVENTS & MEETINGS

The News Register is the go-to for happenings in Yamhill County. Our events calendar is dedicated to community gatherings and celebrations and other noncommercial events open to the public. It runs each issue in print and is always available online at www.newsregister.com/evnts.

The News Register keeps a comprehensive listing of weekly and monthly meetings. From service clubs and support groups to a wide range of special interest and hobbyist clubs, this is the best local resource for locals looking to interact with like-minded community members.

ADVERTISING
Paid content in the News-Register takes many forms in the newspaper. Display advertising from local and national businesses is wrapped around news content. The Classifieds section features Help Wanted ads along with a variety of merchandise for sale (N-R subscribers can list "Stuff Under $500" for free). Next to Classifieds each issue are Legal Notices, a space for important notices like upcoming public hearings, calls for bids, estate matters and more. The newspaper plays a vital role in ensuring this information is accessible, archivable and verifiable for everyone.

PUZZLES & COMICS
The newspaper is more than just words, pictures and information. Each issue features a selection of mental exercises to keep the brain sharp and comics to provide a quick hit of amusement. The News-Register publishes three crosswords each week—King Crossword, Super Crossword and the popular, sometimes edgy Quigley crossword—along with other puzzles for readers to improve their memory and hone their problem solving skills. Comics range from classics like Tiger and Prince Valiant to modern favorites like Breaking Cat News.

For the kids, the News-Register is proud to offer Kid Scoop, an award-winning family feature that runs each Friday. Best for elementary school kids, Kid Scoop presents a slew of educational games, word searches, writing prompts and puzzles, all neatly tied to that week’s theme. This is the perfect complement to students’ weekly learning or a great resource over summer to keep those developing brains sharp when not in school.

VINTAGE NEWS-REGISTER
The images of Yamhill County in decades past is enjoyed by readers each Tuesday in the News-Register, and daily on social media @VintageNewsReg. Community leaders, classic cars and fashion, historic buildings and more as seen through the lens of generations past.

NEWS-REGISTER.COM
The News-Register’s online hub offers everything that goes into the newspaper and more. The news and sports content is free to read for print subscribers, and available for online-only subscribers. But there’s plenty to read for non-subscribers, too. Breaking news is always in front of the paywall, as is all of the N-R opinions content, including the always-popular Letters to the Editor section. Additionally, select features and community stories are made available to everyone each week. Subscribers also have early access to all news content via the E-Edition, which is uploaded the night before the newspaper hits stands. (Tip for users: download the issue for a smoother reading experience.)

Many newspapers have gone away from comment sections on their online stories. The News-Register, however, values the additional user-generated discussions about the latest news stories. Commenting is allowed only by subscribers (but anyone can read them), so, unlike on social media, you know the opinions made come from people who have an understanding of the issues at hand.

In the N-R Marketplace, you’ll find our online Shop Local Business Directory, Yamhill Valley Home Finder, Half Crazy Deals, posters and photos for sale and more. The hidden gem of N-R online is the Newspaper Archive. Users can keyword search through the complete newspaper archive dating to January 1999. There’s no better tool for researching Yamhill County in the 21st century, no matter what the topic you’re interested in.

The News-Register’s website is regarded by peers as one of the best community news websites, annually taking first place in state and national competition.
